

MOVE OF POLICE STATION FROM STAMFORD TOWN HALL TO THE PORTICO

Submitted by Chris Hunt

The police offices at Stamford are this week being transferred from the Town-hall to the Portico.

SOURCE

STAMFORD MERCURY FRIDAY APRIL 4TH 1890 p4/c2

Note. The Portico on High Street is now part of Stamford Library. The police station was sited in an adjoining building to the left of the Portico, between the Portico and Goldsmiths Lane, and is now part of the library. The clock above the entrance is there to this day (January 2025).

Stamford, Thursday Evening.

Burghley House is to be open to the public every week-day, except Tuesday, from Easter to Michaelmas.

STAMFORD AND RUTLAND INFIRMARY.
—The treasurer has received 1*l.* 1*s.* proceeds of concert at Braceborough water works.

The police offices at Stamford are this week being transferred from the Town-hall to the portico.

An "Old Stamfordians' Club" is being started, so that old boys of the school may keep in touch. Messrs. J. A. Langley and T. E. Sandall are hon. secs.

We see by the Cape of Good Hope Government Gazette of Feb. 25, that Mr. Richard Holkings Rose (a grandson of Mr. R. D. Holkings, of Stamford) has been appointed a Justice of the Peace for the district of Worcester.

The Stamford Town Quoit Club held its annual meeting at the Crown and Anchor inn on Tuesday. The balance-sheet showed a slight deficit. The ground opens to-morrow (Friday).

Mr. W. Traylen, Fellow of the Royal Colonial Institute, was announced to give a second lecture on Western Australia in the Assembly-rooms, Stamford, on Thursday. Only three or four persons, however, attended, and the lecture was postponed until the following evening, when about two dozen auditors were present. The subject of the lecture was the Yilgarn Goldfields.