

W H SMITH AND SON OPENS BOOK AND NEWSPAPER STALL AT STAMFORD MIDLAND RAILWAY STATION AND A STAND AT THE GREAT NORTHERN STATION IN 1885

A book and newspaper stall has been opened at the Midland Railway station, Stamford, by Messrs W.H.Smith and Son, and a stand for the sale of newspapers and periodicals only is to be set up by the same firm at the Great Northern station.

Source

Stamford Mercury (Friday) August 28th 1885 p4, c2

Note: - W.H.Smith's didn't have a shop on the High Street until the 1930's when they took over premises of C. Haynes, Stationer and Fancy Repository.